Editorial - Role Model

An old proverb says, "Actions speak louder than words." Inspired by this proverb, when I first became a father over forty years ago, I tried my best to behave more decently because I wanted to be a positive role model to my daughter. I knew that children were good observers as well as great imitators. They learn more through actions than through words.

"Model Homes Make a Model Church—"Every family is a church, over which the parents preside. The first consideration of the parents should be to work for the salvation of their children. When the father and mother as priest and teacher of the family take their position fully on the side of Christ, a good influence will be exerted in the home."

Follow to Lead

"Be imitators of me, as I am of Christ." (1 Cor. 11:1, ESV)

I grew up as a PK (a pastor's kid, for those not familiar with the abbreviation), and throughout my childhood I was constantly reminded that I needed to be a role model for other children. Needless to say, I didn't like this responsibility. Growing up, I often found myself in situations where I was considered a leader, either formally elected or chosen by unspoken consent.

Role Model Quotes

Jesus, the Perfect Model

"Let this mind be in you, which was also in Christ Jesus: Who, being in the form of God, thought it not robbery to be equal with God: But made himself of no reputation, and took upon him the form of a servant, and was made in the likeness of men: And being found in fashion..."

Philippians 2:5-11 KJV

Lead By Example

"You can't make me be nice. You can't make me be good. You can't make me be believe. But your example, your kindness, your patience and love will affect me perhaps enough that eventually I may choose to do those things."
